This will interest Mr. Harding, whose protest against billions in bonds that pay no income tax to the government will surely bear fruit.

The president of one of the biggest banks in New York writes that bootleggers who invest their profits in securities, earn those profits in securities that pay no tax to the government. Thus the government never knows of their bootlegging profits, except through the sale of the securities. The bootlegger gets not a dollar on the interest of the bootlegging investment. The public that patronizes the bootlegger gets no return from it.

Government should tax all income on invested capital—State, city or private bonds and stock. The President can be relied upon to get his plan through.

While others talk, our able friends from Japan are busy. From the Bohemian Club in San Francisco Mr. J. P. Edwards sends a little newspaper clipping headed "Order for Japan." You learn from the San Francisco Examiner that for six months Japan has been purchasing cedar in the United States, carrying it across the Pacific on a fleet of Japanese freighters.

Eleven million feet of cedar have been shipped to Japan in six months. They say they want the cedar to make lead pencils. They must need many pencils, Mr. Edwards observes: "Eleven million feet of cedar will build (roughly) eleven thousand airplanes of the heavy bomber type and they would worry, even if they do have to scrap their great battleship fleet."

Mr. Edwards spent five years in the United States Army Air Service. This writer does not know whether the Japanese are making lead pencils or flying machines with eleven million feet of cedar. But one thing is sure: Some American public officials are making sense of themselves.

You and the other hundred, or million Americans will spend in national taxes this year something over three and a half billion dollars.

It sounds and is a good deal, and three-quarters of the total amount is for war, war pensions and debts in the past, preparation for the present.

However, big as it is, three and a half billions is only three and a half per cent on a hundred billion.

Our last war, although it was little more than a scare, cost the nation at least ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND MILLIONS of dollars. To say three and a half billion is to keep out of war is better than paying one hundred per cent for being dragged into it.

The country is rich. The value of the corn crop alone would pay all the national taxes and expenses. We can afford to be prepared.

Of American families 35 in 100 are their own masters. Fifty-four live in rented houses, 11 live under mortgages. To bail out the millions of families owning the roof above their heads.

What made the French republicans and led the Germans in this war was this: The revolution was the land to the victor. They were fighting for their fatherland and for their own land.

Those interested in the welfare of the country will be glad to hear that, according to good authority, the nation is going up with a bang. Cotton at a fair price injures no one and helps the whole country. When the cotton planter is prosperous the whole South is prosperous.

Cotton at a fair price, compared with cotton at a ruinous price, makes a difference of only three or four cents at most in the price of a shirt. The nation can better afford to pay a good price for cotton than to see hard times all through the South.

Balfour raises us, especially Hughes. "The most remarkable utterance of any statesman anywhere," is his description of Sir Hughes' belligerent speech. Only a little while ago Mr. Balfour was usually delighted with the quickness and skill with which American employers in the Treasury signed checks, handing five thousand million dollars to England. Mr. Balfour is a good adviser and a far-sighted representative of his country. His mind is on ENGLAND always.

The Governor of Texas, sensible man, invited President Obregon of Mexico to cross the border and help in the receiving of Marshal Fock. It would be a good thing for this country and for Mexico if President Obregon could travel as a celebrity. Americans would be glad to see him. They know that he is the strongest, best man that has emerged from Mexico for many years.

It would interest him, coming from Mexico, where gold has almost disappeared from circulation and where industrial and agricultural conditions are bad, to see the gold piled up in our treasury. It is a pity that Mexico and this country should be kept far apart. We are winning time and energy to help China and other distant countries, yet find no way to recognize and cooperate with our next-door neighbors to the south.

Mexico, with the most magnificent all-around natural endowment in the world, also has plenty of people. Continued on Page 26, Column 5.

Conflicting Stories May Result in Innkeeper's Arrest on New Charge

With the arrest in Methuen today of John Harnish, thirty-two years old, of No. 128 Pleasant Valley street, Methuen, as a material witness in the murder of Edward Gardner, a Methuen chauffeur, in a garage of the Kingston Inn, Kingston, the police believe they have taken an important step in solving the tangled mass of apparently contradictory facts they have unearthed in their effort to apprehend the chauffeur's slayer.

John Roland, proprietor of the inn, and James W. Wickham of Dubuque, Iowa, being held in Plymouth as material witnesses, although Chief of Police John Armstrong of that city announced that the innkeeper might be held on a different charge.

The police also are looking for a witness in the case Miss Ann Chubb, a waitress in the Kingston Inn, who Continued on Page 3, Column 4.

ASKS HALF MILLION IN LOVE SUITS

Filed as Insurance Adjuster

The suits are against his parents-in-law, his two brothers-in-law and a cousin. They form a new chapter in the life of the man who has been carried on in the family since last August.

Previous suits include a suit for $100,000 against the relatives and a $40,000 suit by Mrs. Lakovich, in which she charges that Mrs. Grace A. Kinnick of Oak and Brookline, an attractive widow, seduced Lakovich's affection.

Lakovich lives at No. 75 Adie street, Allston. Those he sued today are members of the Bannister family—John and Gertrude, his father-in-law; his mother-in-law; Bennett and John, his brothers-in-law; and Arnold, his brother.

Escape Further Casualty by Barricading Windows Going Through Bridge

By Associated Press.

Belfast, Dec. 9.—A train carrying released Sinn Féin prisoners from Ballykinler Camp was received with hostility today in County Down, especially at Inver, where sympathizers who had assembled to greet them faced badly at the hands of a large crowd of Unionists.

It was reported that three of the inmates were wounded by snipe or rifle shots before the train had actually pulled into Ballybride.

London, Dec. 9.—The Irish Free State, headed by Arthur Griffith and Michael Collins, with a dramatic story today over the opponents of the Irish Free State, who are urging Sir James Craig to accept the terms of the Irish treaty, a nationalistic protest were in progress at Dublin with the peace facilities in the background.

It was accepted as a foregone conclusion this afternoon by officials in London and Dublin that the treaty would be ratified by Dec. 10.

Eamon De Valera, who had an appeal to the Irish nation last night to oppose the settlement, is said to have been.

WATSON IN RAGE, WANTS TO SLAP OFFICER

By Associated Press.

Washington, Dec. 9.—The meeting of the Senate committee investigating charges by Senator Watson, Georgia, that soldiers had been illegally hanged in France, almost broke up in a row today after Senator Watson had threatened to slap the face of an army officer sitting in the audience.

Chairman Brandegee of the committee taking hold of an awkward situation declared that no person in the room should be insulted.

This statement was made just after Senator Watson walked up close to Major George D. Cowan and shaking his finger in his face exclaimed:

"If you punish I will slap your face."

"If he looks at me again, that war,"

Betting of 2 to 1 in Favor of Murphy

Reported

The prevailing odds on John R. Murphy today were 2 to 1. But some bets were reported at 2 to 1. It was predicted that the odds would be 10 to 4 tomorrow. Few bets were reported and very little Currier money was in sight.

One well-known political leader was reported as having offered even money that Murphy would sweep the city and would roll up a total of from 20,000 to 40,000 plurality. His offer was not taken.

"I will slap his jaw," the Georgia Senator declared, adding that he would Continued on Page 3, Column 4.

Bodies of Girl Drug Victims Scarred

Legal restrictions of the use of hypodermic needles and syringes in the administering of habit-forming drugs, save by the proper medical authorities, was one of the triumphs of the Boston American's anti-narcotic campaign in 1914.

Suppression of the sale of these instruments jolted the traffic, but addicts soon found substitutes. Common needles and safety pins were used to jab arms or legs and the drug was applied with hypodermics to complete subcutaneous injections.

More intricate and novel fashions of other types of "home-made" drugs, the eye-dropper in the most popular contrivance. And blood phials are used to draw out the poison because of their sharp points and the clean steel they are made of which reduce the danger of infection caused by safety pins.

Young girls have been arrested in Boston and sent to correctional institutions whose bodies were literally covered with scars many of which had developed abscesses, mute proof of their slavery to drugs.

Sight of these scarred human wrecks would pay from their anguish and indifference to the danger of the drug plague and induce them to take an active part in the nationwide campaign which the Boston American is waging against it.

War on the drug scourge calls for a constant struggle against the insatiable appetite, the stealth and cunning of addicts and the daring and Continued on Page 16, Column 5.

Open Letter to the People

from

SIMON SWIG,

President Tremont Plan, Inc.

Life is a struggle. The selfish man can make it easier by living for himself. The unselfish man, living for others as well as for himself, must be content with the happiness that comes from service to the people.

About a year ago I thought I had discovered the way of serving the people and making provision for my old age.

I was then asked what I cared for most, the people or my own comfort and well being. I accepted the challenge and chose the people.

I paid the price of my choice. Today, after a life of 56 years, in which I have lived a hundred, I must commence life over again.

Monday, with The Tremont Plan, Inc., I start business with the people as my partners. I stayed with them and they are staying with me.

I ask one and all to come to the opening of The Tremont Plan, Inc., 23-25 State St., Boston, on Monday next. I want to meet the people face to face and by a united front and mutual co-operation, we will again demonstrate that truth crushed to earth will rise again and by its righteousness overcome the might of autocratic power and greedy finance.

SIMON SWIG, President.

pled to have a referendum of Sinn Féin to determine the attitude of the Irish republicans on the treaty, as the majority of the Irish republicans are in the British and Irish parliaments.

The Valera held a three-hour conference with Michael Collins, commander-in-chief of the Irish republicans, at "Irish Free House" on Wednesday. The Valera declared his own opinion on the treaty, as the majority of the Irish republicans are in the British and Irish parliaments.

of the Imperial Parliament* for consideration of the agreement?

BEFORE PARLIAMENT.

The best solution is that the treaty among the Irish leaders will not of the plans for the opening of the Imperial Parliament.

The agreement was made between the British government and plenipotentiaries representing the Irish Free State, and it will be placed before the House of Commons and the House of Lords as such agreement in the King's speech.

GRIFFITH TO MOVE TREATY RATIFICATION

Dublin, Dec. 9 (By the Associated Press).—The ratification of the treaty between Ireland and Great Britain will be moved by the Dail Eireann meeting next Wednesday by Arthur Griffith as chairman of the plenipotentiaries. It was announced today by President De Valera, in a statement issued by the Dail publicity department.

It would not be moved as a cabinet decision, added the statement, because the views of the delegates differed from those of certain members of the cabinet.

The members of the Dail are considered here to be likely to be prolonged and lively, for that body is composed of young men with strong views which they are in the habit of expressing with freedom.

DE VALERA-GRIFFITH SPLIT.

The divergence of opinion at this distance is impossible to predict. Although there were reports before the signing of the treaty last summer that differences of opinion existed between De Valera and some of his chief supporters, such as Arthur Griffith, the cabinet members were in agreement.

Arthur Griffith is not a fluent speaker, and it is expected that his support of the agreement from his speech will be in the form of a written statement. He is, however, well known for his ability to push home an argument and his ready wit.

FIGURES IN PROBE OF RUM CONSPIRACY
RUNNER'S DEATH

CLARENCE H. ASKEW

Proprietor of Kingston Inn and Duxbury Man in Toils

It is reported to have heard the shots that killed Gardner, but believed them to have been the sounds of backfiring from a machine, and Charles Dudley, the hotel chef, the nature of the three killings has not been allowed to become public.

Accounts of the shooting are conflicting. In one story told by Roland, rum running, robbery of $4,000 and murder by machine figure. In others, according to the police, there are hints of a robbery plot with Gardner as a victim.

Gardner himself, in a dying statement to Dr. Walter Dudley, is author of the shooting, but Roland, a rum runner, further told to say, "Roland can tell you all about this shooting."

Roland told the doctor that Gardner had been shot while on a morning trip, according to the surgeon. Later the hotel man told the police that he had arranged with the chauffeur and with Harsham for thirty twenty-four cases of liquor from Boston to King's Island, and that the three men were unloading the stuff through the back of the garage, took $2,000 from him, $1,400 from Harsham and departed after firing six shots, three of which struck and fatally wounded Gardner, who died an hour later at the Jordan Hospital, 270-m.

DEATH FROM TRAVELERS

Roland added that he had been introduced to Gardner and Harsham by James P. Trevelyan, an auto repairman and tire dealer at Brookline avenue and Jersey street, South Bay, Boston. James W. Wickham, of Duxbury, who had been with the case has not been made up by the police, also is being held as a material witness.

Travlers, who live with his wife at the Hotel Economy, Commonwealth avenue, today denied the assertions made to the officers by Roland.

"Both Roland and Gardner are customers of mine," he said. "I saw them in the store yesterday afternoon, but I did not go to him. It is a confounded lie to say that I told him anything about liquor, or that I committed any crime, or that I was in any way connected with a whiskey transaction."

"We believe there to have been three men in the garage when the shooting took place," declared John J. Armstrong, chief of the Plymouth police force, today.

FIGURES IN PROBE OF RUM CONSPIRACY
RUNNER'S DEATH

CLARENCE H. ASKEW

It is reported to have heard the shots that killed Gardner, but believed them to have been the sounds of backfiring from a machine, and Charles Dudley, the hotel chef, the nature of the three killings has not been allowed to become public.

Accounts of the shooting are conflicting. In one story told by Roland, rum running, robbery of $4,000 and murder by machine figure. In others, according to the police, there are hints of a robbery plot with Gardner as a victim.

Gardner himself, in a dying statement to Dr. Walter Dudley, is author of the shooting, but Roland, a rum runner, further told to say, "Roland can tell you all about this shooting."

Roland told the doctor that Gardner had been shot while on a morning trip, according to the surgeon. Later the hotel man told the police that he had arranged with the chauffeur and with Harsham for thirty twenty-four cases of liquor from Boston to King's Island, and that the three men were unloading the stuff through the back of the garage, took $2,000 from him, $1,400 from Harsham and departed after firing six shots, three of which struck and fatally wounded Gardner, who died an hour later at the Jordan Hospital, 270-m.

DEATH FROM TRAVELERS

Roland added that he had been introduced to Gardner and Harsham by James P. Trevelyan, an auto repairman and tire dealer at Brookline avenue and Jersey street, South Bay, Boston. James W. Wickham, of Duxbury, who had been with the case has not been made up by the police, also is being held as a material witness.

Travlers, who live with his wife at the Hotel Economy, Commonwealth avenue, today denied the assertions made to the officers by Roland.

"Both Roland and Gardner are customers of mine," he said. "I saw them in the store yesterday afternoon, but I did not go to him. It is a confounded lie to say that I told him anything about liquor, or that I committed any crime, or that I was in any way connected with a whiskey transaction."

"We believe there to have been three men in the garage when the shooting took place," declared John J. Armstrong, chief of the Plymouth police force, today.

MR. CHANGE CHARGE

"We believe there to have been three men in the garage when the shooting took place," declared John J. Armstrong, chief of the Plymouth police force, today.

U.S. RESTRICTED IN PACIFIC BY NEW PACT

Proposal Binds Her to Refer Disputes to Council of "Big 3" Powers

By ROBERT J. PREY.
London Correspondent of Universal Service.
Canton, Dec. 8.—The next big development of the conference is expected to be an agreement between the United States, Great Britain and Japan and possibly France and Italy for the preservation of peace in the Pacific.

The tentative draft of this agreement upon which the interested delegations are now working, consists of a preamble for four clauses. It is very short and does not contain the substance of the questions involved, and can be written on a single foolscap sheet of paper.

Universal Service is in a position to reveal the character of this projected agreement, notwithstanding strenuous efforts for secrecy by all parties concerned. In substance it follows:

Preamble: The signatory powers declare the vital necessity for understanding and forth below in the interests of the preservation of world peace.

Clause 1. The signatory powers undertake to meet in conference whenever any difficulty arises in the Pacific, their purpose being to settle disputes by peaceful means.

Clause 2. Whenever any power not signatory to this understanding shall undertake any action which may be deemed to be a violation of the peace of the Pacific, the signatory powers shall jointly and severally undertake to take such action as may be deemed necessary to maintain the peace.

Clause 3. Deals with execution and ratification of this understanding.

Clause 4. Declares that this understanding shall be subject to the ratification of the signatory powers.

At present drafted, the agreement is still under discussion here and is being watched by the home governments of the proposed signatory powers. It can be stated, however, that the working delegations have been authorized to sign when details have been worked out to their satisfaction.

SCHMED BY BALFOUR

Arthur Balfour, whose object in coming to Washington was to contribute to naval arrangements as to station, is pressing the view that the understanding is not a matter for the signatory powers of the conference. He wished to eliminate the Anglo-Japanese alliance and substitute an agreement satisfactory to the United States. But inasmuch as the alliance did not exist, the Secretary of the conference agenda, he contends that this projected agreement need not be submitted to the conference.

It is not yet definitely decided whether France or Italy shall be a party to the agreement. France wants to enter, not only because she has important positions in the Pacific, but also because she wants to take her place with the leading powers of the world. In the case of Italy, it is not even certain that she will be interested in the Pacific as she is not a naval power. In any event she may enter if she cares to do so.

DENY IT IS AN ALLIANCE

Throughout the negotiations of this agreement, the American State Department has consistently declined to discuss the matter, or even to admit that it was under consideration. Last night, however, officials in touch with the situation, contended that the agreement is neither a treaty nor an alliance. They say it is not an alliance, because it does not contain a document upon which the consent of Congress need be secured.

The argument advanced is that the compact is one that could be made by the foreign office of the nations concerned; that such a compact does not call for the expenditure of any money, and therefore does not concern the House of Representatives or its committee on appropriations. It is being an evasion of treaty or alliance form of diplomacy, it does not concern the Senate.

In short, the view of the United States delegation is that such an agreement as that herewith outlined may be concluded merely as an executive act. It provides for preliminary conference on action, not upon military or naval action in the first instance.

CARUSO HEIRS DELAY FILING OF PETITION

Problem of Equitable Division of Singer's Estate is Proving Difficult

New York, Dec. 8.—The problem of making an equitable division of Enrico Caruso's property in accordance with the agreement entered into among his heirs is proving more difficult than anticipated.

It had been expected that an application for letters of administration would have been filed in the office of the Surrogate of New York County by Monday of this week. Within the office closed Wednesday afternoon, no application had been filed, either for original or ancillary letters. Persons close to the heirs, who set Monday as the date for filing papers, would not indicate when they really would be filed.

There is good authority for the statement that all the Caruso heirs are now in harmony and that all will uphold the agreement previously published. This agreement gives half of the estate of the great tenor to his daughter, and equal shares of the other half to his widow, Mrs. Dorothy Caruso, his brother, Giovanni Caruso, and his two natural sons, Enrico and Rudolph.

ATHLETIC HEAD IN LEOMINSTER RESIGNS
Leominster, Dec. 8.—John P. McQuinn, athletic director of Leominster High School, has resigned, and the school committee has voted to appoint in his place a general supervisor of physical education for the entire school system, down to and including eighth grade pupils. The committee has also appointed Mrs. Laura C. Burdett supervisor of music for the public schools.

1,500 WORKERS WILL RETURN IN CHICOPEE

Chicopee, Dec. 8.—Fifteen hundred workers of the Chicopee Manufacturing Company will return to work Monday, following settlement of the strike by the carriers. The company's wage reduction of 10 per cent, which caused the strike, has been changed to 12 per cent. The carriers will return on regular organized union time. The mills closed when the carriers struck.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY Italian Pantomime to Be Given to Aid Vassar

By BETTY ALDEN.

THE younger college-society set will be much in evidence tomorrow evening at Jordan Hall, where the Italian pantomime, "The Plane of Parnassus," will be given in aid of the Vassar College endowment fund. The affair, which is in charge of a group of Vassar alumnae, is receiving the hearty co-operation of the Harvard University Orchestra, as well as a number of prominent society girls of the club.

It is remarkably talented daughter of the Josephine Adamowska, Helena Adamowska, who will take the leading part in the pantomime to be given tomorrow morning and evening at Jordan Hall in aid of the Vassar College endowment fund. (Photo by H. H. H.)

Helena Adamowska is too well known to need much of a "write-up" in this column. For several years she has been taking leading parts in any number of amateur theatricals given by the smart set. Not long ago, this blonde-haired thespian scored a distinct success in "The White Eagle of Poland," a war play in four episodes, and when the Vincent Club—of which Miss Adamowska is a member—gave "When North Meets South" last Spring, she had no trouble at all in capturing the audience with her rendering of the tambourine dancer.

Mary James, who made her formal bow to society just a week ago today, has been selected to take part as one of the court ladies. Mary was justly beamed as one of the season's most important debutantes; she is the daughter of the Edwin H. James, Mt. Vernon street, and a niece of Grafton D. Cushing. It was at the latter's home on Chestnut street that the young but was presented, the occasion being a tea at which her older sister, Olivia James, who came out last year, was in charge of the pouring, and a number of girls who presided over the tea tables included Ethel Cummings, Evelyn Gardner, Barbara Reynolds, Anne Cabot, Helen Condit, Helen Sullivan and Frances Sturges, all of Boston.

The men's parts at tomorrow's performance are taken chiefly by Harvard students and graduates, including Geoffrey Baker, F. Volcott Booth, John Mason Brown, J. Freeman Lincoln and James W. D. Seymour. As there is no spoken word throughout the play, the action will be accompanied by the Harvard Orchestra, numbering fifteen pieces. Before each act Miss Anna Vassar '12 will explain the action. Miss Thorpe is the niece of Alice Longfellow. The author of the pantomime is Charlotte Gailor of Tennessee, daughter of Bishop Gailor, the president of the Council of Protestant Episcopal Churches.

Society's red-letter event for this evening is the large ball at the Copley-Plaza, winding up the four days of the G. O. P. bazaar which opened at the Copley-Plaza on Tuesday.

The affair, under the very capable chairmanship of Mrs. Francis Zervahn of Milton, promises to be one of the season's well-remembered ones for the smart set. Mrs. Zervahn (Constance Whitte) has arranged to have the music begin promptly at 10 o'clock, to be followed by a supper at midnight. As is to be expected, the former Constance Whitte has secured a long and imposing list of patronesses for the event.

Among the ushers will be Mr. Francis R. Zervahn, Mr. Joseph Barrett, Mr. Frederick S. Whitte, Mr. Harrison Reynolds, Mr. William D. Schier, Mr. James J. Minor, Jr., Mr. Horace Bunney, Mr. Russell Robby, Jr., Mr. William Warden, Mr. Warren T. Barnes, Mr. Theodore Chadwick, Mr. Bradley de L. Nash, Mr. Joseph H. Clark, Jr., Mr. C. G. de Gersdorff, Mr. G. O. Cabot, Mr. Campbell Newhall, Mr. Harrison Gardner, Mr. Bayard Wharton, Mr. J. C. Lathrop and Mr. Dimmock S. Elliott, Jr.

There is a decided Boston interest in the wedding of Miss Anna Vassar of Philadelphia, and Neal Wainwright, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wainwright, of Boston, which took place at noon Thursday at the Church of the Transfiguration in New York, followed by a small reception for relatives and intimate friends of the couple, at the Ritz-Carlton. The marriage was to have taken place on December 29, at Palm Beach, and a good number of the smart set at that Florida resort have been doomed to disappointment so far as witnesses to the Cross-Wainwright nuptial is concerned.

The groom, who is a graduate of Harvard, Class of '19, and served overseas during the war, has as his best man, John R. Craig, Jr. The ushers included Livermore Wells, a classmate of the groom, and until recently of Boston. His sister is Mrs. Lathrop Motley Weld (Dorothy Wells) of this city. Her sister-in-law, Mrs. Wainwright, will make their home at No. 63 Lexington avenue, in New York.

ARMS PRAYER POSTED AT ST. PAUL'S

Striking Appeal for Success of Conference Placed on Cathedral Board

A striking device for bringing home to the public the moral issues involved in the Disarmament Conference has been adopted by the Cathedral Church of St. Paul.

A prayer for the success of the conference has been printed on a large placard and placed on the Cathedral bulletin board on Tremont street, in the heart of the shopping district. The prayer is as follows:

"O God of all the nations of the earth, guide us, we beseech Thee, with Thine own wisdom the deliberations of the conference assembled at Washington to take thought for the peace of Thy world. Grant to the representatives of the nations the spirit of sincerity and of brotherhood that they may have faith in one another and in the power of Thy righteous words."

"Grant to all those who take part in the conference that they may be true to their high task. Help them to feel their responsibility to the world and to their fellow men in this great undertaking. On all the people represented by the abundance of Thy grace, that generous judgments, promptness of claims, promptness of self-criticism may be elicited, and the desire to remove suspicions and misunderstandings have free course."

"Let the peace which no man can prevail among the nations, that Thy kingdom established in all the earth. Hear us, O Lord, of Thy great goodness for the sake of Him who is the Prince of Peace, Our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ. Amen."

Milford Man Unhurt When His Machine Loops the Loop

Milford, Dec. 9.—The automobile owned by Joseph Merchand of this place looped the loop without hurting the driver, and was smashed almost to kindling wood during the complete circle on the Union road.

The driver tried to fasten a curtain on the side of the car while negotiating a curve, with the result that the machine spun and spun around and then went over on its side. It was towed here for repairs.

Recognition of Soviet Russia to Be Subject of Chaperoned Forensic Clash

Northampton, Dec. 8.—Smith College girls are ready to the last word for their debate, next Saturday with the Dartmouth boys.

Each college will be represented by two teams. One Smith team will route here to debate with the visiting Dartmouth team and the other will go to Hanover to match wits with the big Green team which remains in New Hampshire.

The debate will be a strictly academic affair and probably the first chaperoned forensic clash in New England. Miss Elizabeth Avery of the Department of Spoken English at Smith will accompany the girls who visit Dartmouth. Another chaperone will be chosen here.

No social preparations have been made. The team from Dartmouth will arrive this afternoon and will practice speaking in John M. Green Hall, in order to test its acoustics. The only social meeting of the teams at Smith will be at Northrup House, where the teams, alternates, coaches and judges will assemble after the debate. The visiting team will return to their own college on Sunday.

The Smith girls are confident of winning. The subject of the debate will be "Resolved, that the United States should recognize the present Soviet government in Russia." The judges at Smith will be L. B. Garrison of Amherst, Charles Putnam of St. Hovoke and Elizabeth Bowditch of Hanover. The Dartmouth team will be led by the stock of Smith will precede at the debate here.

SHE INVENTED THE "SHIMMY"

The "shimmy" is a dance executed entirely with the shoulders, arms, neck and other movable and upper parts of the person. It is Miss Doris Palmer's creation. Miss Palmer, who she had never dreamed of it, she will tell why in an illustrated page of the Boston Monday Advertiser.

Why the Working People Are for Murphy

We cannot make a better appeal to the workmen and women of Boston in behalf of John R. Murphy's candidacy for Mayor than is made by the eighteen labor leaders who have signed a circular calling the workmen and women of Boston to vote for Mr. Murphy. In it they say nothing concerning Curley, but every man and woman who worked for the city while Curley was Mayor will tell you why they are going to vote against Curley and for Murphy.

We ask you to read this temperate and able statement of the working people, for Murphy:

To the Workmen and Women of Boston:

Labor has a vital interest in all matters affecting public welfare. The election of a Mayor of our city is of importance to us. The Mayor will occupy office for four years. There is no way of accomplishing his recall should he prove unfair or unjust to our interests. Unusual powers are vested in the Mayor under our city charter. He directs the policy of all the numerous city departments, including all those agencies of the city which were conceived to protect the health and to promote the welfare, happiness, convenience and property of our people. His attitude, as affecting the workman and woman, is of especial importance to us, not only because of his immediate supervision of the employment of 10,000 public employees, but because the policy of the Mayor of the largest New England city very often guides the course of all our other municipalities and establishes the standards of wage and working conditions that are followed by private employers. The public itself—which is the city—should be the best employer. It should maintain standards and conditions of employment for the private employer to emulate.

In our choice of a Mayor of Boston for the next four years, we have the past records of the candidates by which to judge them. From those who have treated us honorably and fairly in the past, we can expect just treatment in the future. We, therefore, urge the election of Mr. John R. Murphy.

Mr. Murphy has had a long and varied experience in public office, and his record, wherever he has served, has been marked by the same continued interest in and just treatment of the wage-earners.

In both House and Senate, Mr. Murphy at the very beginning of his public life showed his attitude toward labor. He there voted for the bill to compel weekly payment of wages, for establishment of evening schools, for regulation of the employment of minors, and he was a leader in the campaign, begun then for the Workmen's Compensation Law; he fought to wipe out the many injustices then existing and to require payment for loss of wages and for injuries sustained by workmen and women in the course of their employment. Some of these labor reforms for which he fought have not even yet been obtained, so far ahead of his time was Murphy as a friend of labor.

He was the first head of a city department of Boston to establish time-off for overtime and double time for Sundays and holidays. As Water Commissioner he eliminated the unjust practice of paying off hundreds of laborers in the Winter months, and he so adjusted their work that they would be assured continuous work throughout the year. He believes that contractors on public works should be citizens and pay the prevailing rate of wages to workers. He believes that citizens of Boston should be given preference in employment by contractors on public work.

His Golden Rule policy toward labor was clearly shown by his statement to the Boston Central Labor Union: "I have always tried to be fair to the men working under me, as I know you cannot maintain a department unless you are fair to the workers. Treat them with fairness and they, in return, will give you all you should get."

Mr. Murphy gives to the workmen and women of Boston the pledge of "a fair deal to all, without fear, favor or prejudice." His long and friendly record is ample evidence that he will fulfill this pledge. We, therefore, urge his election as Mayor of Boston.

Pelletier, Jobbed, Won't Speak for Curley

We make this prediction—that as Curley's rally at Symphony Hall on Saturday night, Mr. Pelletier will not appear among the speakers. How do we know? Have we any secret communication with Mr. Pelletier? No. We have had no secret communication with Mr. Pelletier. We know, but we only know it because we assume that Mr. Pelletier has some sense and some feeling, and that when a man is jobbed as he was by another man whom he befriended at a critical hour in his life, he does not feel very well about it, and does not feel like recommending such a person to be the chief magistrate of the city of Boston.

Now, please mark our prediction. Mr. Pelletier will not appear at the Symphony Hall rally or any other Curley rally, nor will he deny that he was jobbed, deliberately and cold-bloodedly.

Let Us Try to Realize the President's Happy Thought

The Heart papers heartily applaud President Harding's proclamation of Education Week.

To be sure, every week ought to be a week of education. Any week in which nothing is learned is worse than wasted. Because every neglect to learn some new thing, to think some fresh thought, to add some new item to one's facts and conclusions, breeds more indolence to learn anything new at all.

The idle mind runs just as idle machinery runs. We must either educate our minds and keep them everlastingly at it, or be dunces and bad citizens.

The true end of government and society is not to make power and riches. It is to make people. Power and riches are good. But popular intelligence and knowledge are better.

Any government or any society which does not better its people mentally and spiritually is a failure, even though it acquires vast territories, acquires vast riches, and extends the sway of its empire and the terror of its arms across the world.

It is not only to the interest of every man and woman and child to be constantly learning, but it is also the duty of each of them in a republican land.

No man can be as good a citizen as he ought to be, no woman can be as good a citizen as she might be, without constant education.

To know how one should vote on some vital public question is just as much an obligation of duty and patriotism as it is to be ready and willing to serve the nation in arms.

Of course we do not mean that narrower sort of learning to which many restrict their education.

A man may go through all the schools and finally emerge from the university a blockhead. And a man may have scant acquaintance with literature and no acquaintance at all with Latin or Greek, and still be an educated man.

True education is not the acquisition of thousands of facts, but the ability to use facts as guides to right conclusions—the ability, in other words, to think straight to the point.

That kind of education is rare. Many college professors never had a bit of it. Many professional writers never thought a thought in their lives. You saw that emphasized in the hysteria that preceded and accompanied our participation in the war. And you see it writ all around you every day in political, financial, literary and press circles.

"We learn from thinking," says Hegel in his profound work upon the philosophy of history—"we learn from history that governments and people never learn anything from history."

That is profoundly true. People learn to repeat history narratives, to recite historical facts, to recall historical dates—but they never learn to think what their collection of narratives, facts and dates mean.

If the present government and the people of the United States in general had learned anything from history, there would be no foreign delegations now in Washington proposing to us to tear up our only insurance policy against future perils and disasters.

Mr. Wilson was a professional teacher and writer of history, and he never learned anything from history.

Mr. Harding and Mr. Hughes are professional students of political history, and both show that they have learned nothing from political world history.

We think it would be an excellent use of Education Week to devote it all to a nation-wide discussion of better and more effective means of educating our people, young and old. TO THINK.

What is the use of tools if the possessor does not know how to use them?

We have an enormous quantity of educational machinery in our country. No other nation ever boasted such numbers of public and private schools, of public and private libraries, of books and magazines and newspapers. And it is perfectly true that no other country ever had a people so generally educated in part.

But it is also true that of all the millions in our country who can read and write and think reasonably well, very few, very few indeed, can think and reason accurately, clearly and rightly to a firm conviction and conclusion.

Now we ought to be the clearest-thinking people in the world, for we do possess the greatest amount of popular sovereignty—and therefore the greatest personal interest in national policies and conduct—possessed by any people in the world.

So, then, to be educated and to keep on educating ourselves and others is the first high duty of our citizenship in the republic.

Let us see if we cannot all do something to fulfill in a useful and effective way, that duty during this week, set apart by the President for just such a purpose.

It was a happy thought the President embodied in his proclamation.

Let us try to make a happy reality of Mr. Harding's happy thought.

Christmas Cheer for the Poor

Help Swell the Boston American Basket Fund by Buying a Tag Tomorrow

A Tag Day for the benefit of the Boston American Christmas Basket Fund will be conducted tomorrow in Boston, Cambridge, Malden, Quincy, Brookline and Somerville. The entire proceeds derived from the sale of tags will be devoted to the purchase of wholesome food for distribution the day before Christmas to needy families of metropolitan Boston. Not one cent of the amount collected will be used for any other purpose than the purchase of food.

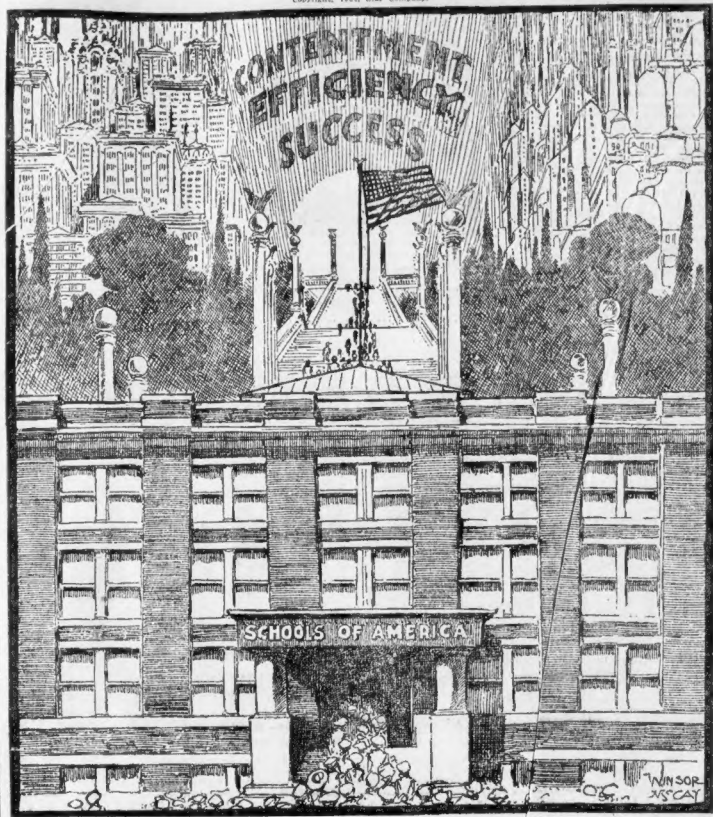

Last year, through the medium of the Boston American's Christmas Fund 104,000 pounds of food was distributed in unbroken parcels to 9,800 families. It is estimated that this food fed 40,000 people. As nearly every reader of the Boston American realizes from personal observation, the need for assistance this year is much greater than it has been at any time for the past ten years. This is due chiefly to the unemployment situation.

This newspaper has received as many as 225 letters in one mail asking for food. Christmas fund workers report appalling conditions in all sections of Greater Boston. They found families with practically nothing to eat in the house. Little children can get along without many things, but—THEY MUST HAVE FOOD.

So, dear reader, when a cheerful young woman, who is volunteering her services free of charge, offers you a tag tomorrow, kindly buy it if you can afford it. Every nickel counts. Don't forget that hungry kiddies. In their childish prayers on Christmas night, they will remember those who made the day happy for them.

By Dr. Charles Fleischer

"What a piece of work is a man! How noble in reason! How infinite in faculty! In form and moving how express, how like a God!"

These Shakespearean lines Hamlet soliloquizes about man and his mind. We cannot repudiate least, as we consider our very physical structure and ponder the facts of our history.

The more position of the head at the top of the body suggests, symbolically, the desirability of putting the mind in charge of human conduct and relations. Both for matters of practical concern and for reaction to the most intimate and ultimate interests it is necessary to make the mind, however we use our mental power.

With reason, man has mastered the elements, has conquered the earth and subdued it, has made air and water to carry him, and has forced the lightning to do his bidding.

With reason, man searches the stars—and reads somewhat of the meaning of the mystery of the universe. Without reason, man sinks to waste the life of the brute and the beast, whence he has risen, and he must find a way of infinite power and attains to a godlike knowledge of good and evil.

An intelligent will is among the finest achievements of human nature and among the most potent motives of human personality. To use this will and to prepare it to retain human mastery, is the duty of every man.

Education, whether of the schools or of books or of intensive thinking—makes fruitful the soil of the mind and prepares it for the varied uses of life.

Happy the human being, whose aspiring mind is devoted to everlasting growing pains by means of continuous self-education.

A WISE OLD BIRD
China now has the biggest army in the world; but she isn't boasted of any more than the man with the biggest tooth boasts about his protrusion. You must give China credit for having some sense in spite of the size of her army.

GETTING THE FACTS
We don't believe the world is growing worse. We are merely getting our faculties fixed out about its wickedness.

"Ford Worse Than a Joke"

Norman Hapgood Believes in History. Ford Doesn't. Hapgood Will Help Educate Ford

COPYRIGHT, 1921, REAP COMPANY

[The following brief and useful comment on Henry Ford's anti-Semitic viciousness, written by that able citizen, Norman Hapgood, will interest many, INCLUDING HENRY FORD.]

Henry Ford's paper for November 19 rejoices that a "provincial weekly" as itself can give me "combinable concern."

The concern comes not from the cheap Jew-bait of a provincial weekly, as such, but from the vicious and atrocious mania of one of the richest men in the world. The only information of interest that the way, as such, could furnish, would be about its circulation. How many copies did it sell before it thought of joining Ku-Klux movement for the murder of Jews?

How many did it sell after it published the atrocious forged protocol? How much circulation has it since that forgery was shown up, and it has no better material to exploit than whether Benedict Arnold was the thief of Claymanger or the paying teller in a Jewish bank.

If its circulation is disappearing I suggest it publish the forged evidence against Captain Dreyfus, the victim of French army forgeries at a time of anti-Jew propaganda, without telling its readers that the documents of the militarists were proved to be forgeries.

Then it might go over to Czarist Russia, print the forgeries by which the Czar's government propped Bayliss and other Jews drank Christian blood their ritual murders.

But this weekly newspaper is a bad joke, says Ford, the great manufacturer, using his wealth to agitate to start Dreyfus and Bayliss cases in this country, while he boasts of his ignorance of all history, is saying a good deal worse than a joke. NORMAN HAPGOOD.

Baby Care Taught in Schools

CHICAGO, Dec. 9.—Girls of the Chicago high schools are to be taught how to take care of babies.

"They will have real, acquiring, course progressers, as practice instead of learning baby culture out of dry, unamiable books."

"In carrying on the nursery work," said Miss Nona E. Goodrich, head teacher, "we will continue the regular educational program. Besides instruction in bathing, dressing and feeding the babies, the girls will be taught the fundamentals of kindergarten work."

"We are not trying to make nurse maids of the girls, but we feel that knowledge in scientific care of babies will go far toward making them mothers' helpers."

"This training will enable them to give scientific care to their own little brothers and sisters and many parents will learn much from them. Our girls are all enthusiastic over the work."

The work will be started first in one school and extended to others as classes are formed. Two hundred and fifty girls will be ready signed up for the class.

The work will be under the direction of Dr. Mildred Young, and will be given a thorough practical examination," she said. This course will give the girls who prefer home work to office duties, but it will be a benefit to future generations and give the community healthier children."

To the Editor
Re-elect Miss Curtis
Editor Boston American:
Miss Frances G. Curtis is a candidate for re-election to the Boston School Committee. She should have the support of all who have the interests of the public schools at heart.

Miss Curtis is a conscientious, efficient and experienced educator. She is also the only woman on the board.

Half the children in the public schools are girls and nine-tenths of the teachers are women. To have this great mass of women and of girl children, huddled by a board without a single woman on it would be a miniature for the schools and a disgrace to the city.

Let us mark our ballots for Miss Curtis next Tuesday night. Let us mark our ballots for Miss Curtis next Tuesday night.

THERE'S PLENTY TO DO

You say you feel depressed—in fact, you can sleep without harrowing dreams of those who have gone before you grow supine, sitious and actually believe that "something is got happen."

And there is something "going to happen," by what it is under your control.

You are unfitting yourself to do the things it should be done to make the living conditions of your family better for the present problem of a cold, hard winter.

Suppose something were to happen to you (a cold that could provide gainst put on now wears better than the old ones in the hot weather, when the sun scorches and blisters. You could get the wool and pile it up. But at present the time is given you to tie the yard, to take in the screens and possibly repaint them. Get out of it.
